1. Heard the learned advocate for the petitioner i.e. sole injured person in C.R.No. 23 of 2005 of Agripada Police Station, the learned advocate for the respondent no.3 i.e. original complainant in the said case and the learned A.P.P. for the State. The petitioner as well as respondent no.3 i.e. original complainant are present in person before the Court.

2. The petitioner who is sole injured person in C.R.No.23 of 2005 has prayed that the proceedings relating thereto may be quashed. The C.R. is numbered as Case No.37/P/2005 and it is pending before the Court of learned M.M. 17th Court, Mazgaon Mumbai. The complainant who is present in Court has also stated that the matter is amicably settled between the parties and the petitioner is getting married to the sole accused in the said case and she does not wish to pursue her complaint.

3. Looking to the fact that petitioner who is sole injured in the said case and the complainant do not wish to pursue the prosecution in the case, I am of the opinion that no purpose would be achieved by continuing with the prosecution of the said case. In view of the above and in order to maintain peace and amicable relation between the parties and in the locality, the proceedings relating to C.R.No.23 of 2005 of Agripada Police Station, are quashed.
